A Grand Retrospect. Thirty years ago to-day the steamship Britannia sailed from Liverpool for America. The shipping at Liverpool is gaily decorated to-day in commemoration of the event.

Finance and the Currency. Baring Brothers advertise the issue of Baltinore and Ohio Railroad sterling bonds.

According to the city article of the London Times, American railroad mortgage bonds at Frankfort ceasing to attract buyers, city and State bonds are being tried. Those of the city of Havana have been introduced, and those of the city of New York and State of Illinois are to follow to the extent of a few millions, at seven per cent, interest. The writer adds that the transactions of the Eric Rallway Company and the bribing of the courts of law account for the fact that New York city bonds can find no home market.

There is a noteworthy communication in the Economist, which anticipates the report of the Paris High Council of Commerce on the international coinage. The correspondent states that thirty out of thirty-seven witnesses who appeared before the Council urged strongly the adoption of the twenty-five franc coin as the anitary gold piece, and the discontinuance of the five franc silver piece. The Council will recommend that these views be carried into practical effect.

FRANCE.

· The Libel on Napolcon. Paris, July 4 .- The ground for the last prosecution against the Figure is an article declaring that Lord Clarendon, when Secretary of Foreign Affairs for the first time, made a loan of $500 to the Emperor Napoleon, who was then President of the republic, for which accommodation the conclusion of the Anglo-French treaty was a consideration. That the story is a fabrication is proved by the fact that Lord Clarendon was not Foreign Secretary at the time alluded to, but Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland.

THE OCEAN RACE.

on the 8th of June.

The Dauntiess and Cambria Start—The Daunt-less Apparently the Faster. QUEENSTOWN, July 4 .- The yachts Cambria and Dauntless have started on their ocean race. They reached Daunt's Rock in tow at 2 o'clock this afternoon, where they found the yachts Sappho and Gwendolin awaiting them. weather was fine, and a strong W. by N. breeze was blowing.

At 21/2 P. M. the first gun was fired, and the Cambria and Dauntless dropped off from their tugs. Two minutes afterwards the Dauntless shot ahead, keeping the lead for twenty miles. when the Cambria tacked with the wind and seemed to get ahead of the Dauntless. The wind had changed and was strong from the southwest. The general opinion is that, with quiet sea and favoring wind, the American will win the race; but if the weather should turn rough, victory for the Cambria is certain. Much interest is felt in the contest, and the betting on the result is active.

QUEENSTOWN, July 4.—Both yachts started under a main and foresails, and jibs, the Cambria carrying in addition her gaff topsails. The Cambria was placed a cable's length on the weather quarter of the American. Both started on the starboard tack. The Cambria sailed badly, and the Dauntless made much leeway, showing superior weatherly qualities.

At the expiration of twenty minutes the Cambria went round on the port tack. The Dauntless held on the starboard tack five minutes longer, and then followed the Englishman.

The weather now became thick, and when last seen the Cambria had again crossed the Dauntless. The latter appeared to be the fastest of the two, but the Cambria showed better weatherly qualities.

the amount of imports and exports at said port dur-ing those years. Adopted.

An amendment to prevent encroachments upon Indian reservations by any land grants to the com-pany was discussed, without action. THE NATURALIZATION BILL. At twenty minutes past 12 o'clock the Naturalization bill was taken up.

Mr. Sumner's amendment striking the word "white" from the naturalization laws, making them apply equally to all foreigners, having been adopted, the question recurred on Mr. Williams' amendment to exclude the Chinese from the benefits of the pending legislation. Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, continued his remarks against the admission of Chinese naturalization upon an equal footing with all other foreigners. While he would protect the Chinese in their personal rights he never would sanction the introduction of a system of slave labor in competition with white labor in the country, which was the question at issue in the amendment. He would not interfere to prevent the immigration of Chinese who came voluntarily; but he would never agree to invest with political power imported coolle slaves, brought here under contracts, and who, as pagans, could not take our oaths. There was no necessity for legisla-tion, as the bill to enforce the fifteenth amendment had secured the Chinese in every right to which they were entitled, Mr. Conkling (N. Y.) appealed to Mr. Sumner to withdraw his amendment, which could be done by unanimous consent. He regarded it as jeopardizing the whole bil, the importance of which to the country in preventing naturalization frauds in any city and elsewhere could not be overestimated.

Mr. Trumbull (IIL) said if the Chinese were to come here at all they should not come as slaves, but be incorporated with the body politic. The policy of the Republican party having been to make freemen, he could not understand how that party could refuse to admit them to citizenship.

Mr. Sumner declined to withdraw his amendment.

He read a number of letters from colored residents of the United States from abroad, complaining of their exclusion from naturalization. He argued that his amendment was to cover these cases as well as those of the Chinese. He argued that the restriction of the privilege of naturalization to white men was in derogation of the principle of the Declaration of Independence that all men are created equal. He then read from the New Testament relative to Peter's denial of his Master, and remarked that a Republican Senator (meaning Mr. Stewart) had thrice denied the principles of the Declaration of ndependence, and that, like Peter, he might weep

Mr. Stewart replied that the charge of apostacy applied with much greater force to the Senator from Massachusetts, as he had read from the Christian Bible in support of his proposition to commit our institutions to the control of Pagans, the enemies of Christianity, who could not be bound by a Christian obligation or oath.

Mr. Williams contended that the Declaration of Independence did not mean that the wild man of South America, the heathen, and the cannibal were to be allowed equal political rights under the Gov-ernment with the citizen of the United States. He ernment with the citizen of the United States. He regarded Mr. Summer's interpretation of that instrument as foolish and absurd. Its authors had declared all men created equal; but they had also declared that it was the right and duty of a nation so to organize the powers of the government as should seem most likely to effect its safety and happiness. If it was the judgment of the American people that it was to their safety to exclude Chinese from participation in our Government, it was their from participation in our Government, it was their duty so to decide. The framers of the Constitution had created a political distinction among citizens by preventing a foreigner from becoming President and in regard to eligibility as Congressmen; and would the Senator from Massachusetts assert that that distinction was a violation of the principles of the Declaration of Independence? Did not every man know that if the Government was to destroy every political distinction between native and for-eign born citizens it would be overthrown by absorption of political power in the hands of its ene-mies, the subjects of foreign governments?

Mr. Sumner, in reply to an inquiry on the point, ad mitted Congress could refuse to pass any naturaliza-tion law, but insisted that such law, if passed, might be in harmony with the Declaration of Indepen-dence, that there could be no distinction of color. Mr. Williams said he understood the Senator to

Mr. Williams said he understood the Senator to admit that Congress had jurisdiction over the question of naturalization, but that the Declaration of Independence came in and controlled the judgment of Congress, and therefore left no discretion.

Mr. Sumner explained that he meant no discrimination on account of color. He was not prepared to say Congress might not shut down the gates and refuse to naturalize anybody, but if it did naturalize then the law must be in harmony with the Declaration of Independence. He considered that instrument as paramount to the law; not to be set aside or questioned in any respect, but irreversible and or questioned in any respect, but irreversible and one which all the Senate was bound to respect.

Schator when upon the floor had been that all men were equal and therefore all were entitled to equal political rights and privileges; but now he conceded that Congress had the power to exclude from naturalization every person born in a foreign country. Mr. Williams maintained the power of Congress in this respect sets the right to discriminate for the best interests of the Government in ad-mitting foreigners to political rights. He said, when the Burlingame treaty with China was made it was amended on his own motion to pro-vide nothing therein contained should be held to confer naturalization upon Chinese in the United States. The Chinese were not a desirable population. The Mongolian never would amalgamate with the races of European descent. He never would lose his identity, and we would have a separate, distinct people among us—an empire of China within republican America—conflict and bloodshed be-tween races having no affinity, and, as in the case of the Indian, gradual extermination would be the fate of one of the contending parties. With what proof one of the contending parties. With what propriety could we talk about liberty, virtue, and intelligence as the palladium of our liberties while opening the door to an overwhelming tide of poliution and paganism? The proposition of Mr. Sumner to invite here a mighty mass of ignorance was but mere stuff and nonsense, and deserved the contempt it had received. He sympathized with the efforts of the workingmen of the country to stay this tide of penury and degradation now beginning to pour in upon us from across the Pacific. He would have the workingmen of Massachusetts understand that their Senator (Mr. Sumner) was proposing to issue a proclamation to the Chinese hordes to come here and drive them out of employment. He (Mr. Sumner) was content to dream of the triumph of his ner) was content to dream of the triumph of his theory, although the workingmen of his State were being reduced by it to beggary and starvation. ### FINANCE AND COMMERCE,

EVENING TELEGRAPH OFFICE, The condition of the money market is such as to afford perfect satisfaction to borrowers. The demand for money is rather lively after the holiday yesterday, but the wants of trade are very limited, and the amount of business paper corresponds with this dullness. The supply of loanable funds in the banks is still beyond the average at this period, and there is a prospect ot a very dull and easy loan market during the month.

The rates are about 4 per cent. on call with good collaterals, and prime discounts under sixty days may be quoted at 6@7 per cent. Paper of longer dates ranges between 614 and 734 per cent. as a rule. Gold is quite active and steady, but barely so strong. Sales up to noon fluctuated between 111% and 111%, opening at 111% and closing at that figure. Government bonds are in good request, an prices are firm with a slight allowance in a por-
